A fully transferrable Mineralogy course is being successfully taught on the Annandale Campus of Northern Virginia Community College (NOVA). The key to success has been striking a balance in offering a class that provides the rigor needed for the student anticipating becoming a Geology major and fulfills the needs of the diverse student population at a two-year college (2YC).

Failure of Algebra I is particularly problematic. In CPS, only 13% of students who fail both semesters of Algebra I in 9th grade graduate in 4 years, and the largest share of 9th grade algebra failures occur in the second semester of the course. Elucidating the ways that students can get back on track is of the utmost policy importance.

I can now go back and see where I went wrong, pick out the passionate idea and mold it into a new, better idea that flows into a masterpiece of words that explains my idea in every form. Another thing this class has brought into me is the ability and knowledge to write a good paper using sources from our library here at WSU.
